ABOUT ME

Today it is difficult to imagine a world without digital technologies. Therefore, the demand for IT specialists is quite high and we are seeing that this demand is growing.

For this reason, keeping up with the times and based on my interests, I decided to study the field of "PROGRAMMING". I am currently working as a FrontEnd Web Development Developer. My goal is to gain experience and contribute to the development of the company where I work, to become a world-class specialist!
